BRITISH NOTE NOT FINISHED

Contents of Message Will Depend Largely on the German Note in the Arabic Case

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—England has conceded important points in the demands made by the United States dealing with the orders in council. Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, British ambassador, notified the administration late yesterday of an important relaxation in the orders in council under which $40,000,000 worth of German goods stored in Holland and of American ownership will be permitted to pass safely through the blockade maintained by the British fleet. He also made it known that the British government is willing to permit transportation to this country of dyestuffs needed here in textile manufacture, these stuffs being forbidden exportation by the German government.

The American note to England, dealing with British interference with America's commerce on the high seas, had not yet been finished, it was stated. Developments had been so rapid recently as to necessitate constant changes in the draft.

What the note to London said, it was pointed out, would depend greatly on the contents of the German reply to the American communication relative to the Kaiser's submarine methods.

This reply was so long delayed that for a time it was thought there would be none. Owing to recent changes in the situation one was now expected, however. It was believed it would be separate from the expected Arabic communication.

SWEDEN OPPOSED TO ENTERING WAR ON GERMAN SIDE

LONDON, Aug. 31.—"Sweden will never enter the war on the side of Germany," Edwin Bjorkman, eminent Swedish-American author, told the United Press today.

I find sinister influences at work in Europe to provoke Sweden to fight, but there are no signs of Sweden weakening," said Bjorkman.

Sweden is a democratic country. At the election there were 450,000 progressive votes cast to 230,000 for the reactionaries. All the progressives are against Germany and with them are perhaps half the reactionaries. Only a very small party in Sweden favors Germany. The wishes of the multitude will prevail and the multitude in Sweden favors the allies and does not favor war."

AIM TO PERFECT STATE NORMAL IN ALL DEPARTMENTS

While Growth Continues Energies Will Be Bent Upon Making School Better Than Ever

SESSIONS BEGIN TUES. SEPT. 14.

Outlook for Increased Attendance Gratifying to Faculty Which Prepares for Work

The energies of the La Crosse state normal school during the 1915-16 sessions will be devoted to perfecting every branch of the institution rather than to increased attendance.

The above statement was made by F. A. Cotton, president of the normal school, on the eve of his departure today on a business mission in the interest of the school. It was accompanied by the information that attendance at the school promises to show a healthy increase over that of last year.

In promoting efficiency certain changes in the faculty have been made, and the names of several new instructors will shortly be announced.

Faculty members are returning to the city and there is a bustle of preparation in the big normal school building. Correspondence with prospective students concerning the various courses occupies considerable time, and all forces are working to the schedule by which active school work is to begin Tuesday, September 14.

An earnest effort will be made to make a great record, despite the loss of several thousand dollars in income.

The two-year university course shows a substantial increase in attendance, and with new laboratory equipment the work in this branch is expected to rank up uniformly with the same class of work in Madison.

That one-half of the La Crosse contingent in the 1915 class graduated by the state university took part of their work in the college department of the La Crosse normal school suggests the growing importance of the department, last year's attendance in which was eighty-three.

The college department presents these advantages to parents: it permits many boys and girls to take university work who could not afford to.

Temperatures yesterday: High, 66; low, 46; precipitation, 0. Forecast for La Crosse and vicinity: Fair and warmer tonight and probably Wednesday. For Wisconsin: Fair tonight and probably Wednesday. Weather

The high now covers the country from the central Mississippi valley to the lower lake region and unseasonably low temperatures are reported from this section with frost at several stations.

The northwestern low is central over Saskatchewan and the temperature has risen in the northern plains states and upper Mississippi valley.

Except along the Atlantic and north Pacific coasts and at a few upper lake stations, the weather is clear this morning.

Very little precipitation has occurred during the past 24 hours, a few Atlantic and upper lake stations alone reporting rain.

The normal easterly drift of the high and low centers will cause fair and warmer weather in this section tonight and probably over Wednesday.

BRIDGE WILL BE FREE WITH STROKE OF 12 TONIGHT

Ordinance Removing the Tolls for Two Years Goes Into Effect Tomorrow

TOLL-TAKERS WILL REMAIN

Are Required by Federal Regulations and They Will Take Record of Increased Traffic

ORDINANCE IS PENDING

Bill Setting Forward Date Until New Year Still in Committee but Is Believed to Be Dead

With the stroke of midnight tonight the Mississippi river wagon bridge will be free. The ordinance removing the tolls for a period of two years goes into effect with the first of September, thus ending one of the bitterest and longest municipal controversies in the history of the city.

Official notification that tolls are no longer to be collected was sent to the toll-takers this morning by Mayor A. A. Bentley. The toll-takers will continue at their posts, although without the jingle of the cash-register to enliven their periods on duty, for the ordinance abolishing the tolls did not abolish the office of the bridge tenders. Two men are required by federal regulations to be on the bridge at all times during the season of navigation.

Mayor's Notification

The mayor's notification to the bridge tenders follows:

"Mr. James Wotherpoon, Mr. Henry Kathary,

"Toll Takers, Mississippi River Wagon Bridge, La Crosse, Wisconsin.

"Gentlemen:

"By virtue of Ordinance Number 558, tolls for travel over the Mississippi river wagon bridge by persons, animals and vehicles shall not be charged after midnight of August 31st, 1915, until further notice from me or action by the Common Council of the City of La Crosse.

"You are therefore instructed that from and after midnight of August 31st, 1915, and until further notice, you will permit all travel both to and from the City of La Crosse without charge.

"You will continue to perform your other duties until further notice.

"Yours truly,

"A. A. BENTLEY, Mayor."

Will Take Record

City Comptroller William J. Fries said this morning that he will instruct the toll-takers to keep a record of all vehicles and foot passengers crossing the bridge, from the date of the removal of the tolls until navigation closes, in order to ascertain whether the abolition of the crossing-tax results in increased traffic.

Ordinance Pending

The removal of the tolls tomorrow, incidentally, leaves pending an ordinance introduced by Paul W. Mahoney at the last meeting, which provided that the date of declaring the wagon bridge free be set forward until January 1. Mr. Mahoney's ordinance further provided that the tolls collected in the additional period were to be placed in a fund for the repair of the La Crosse pike.

The north side alderman made a desperate fight for his ordinance at the last regular meeting of the common council, when it was introduced. He attempted to have the measure given its required three readings at the meeting, and passed under suspension of the rules. Over-ruled by the city attorney, who declared the procedure illegal, the alderman allowed the matter to be referred to committee, where it still is. Mr. Mahoney was absent from a special meeting of the council last Wednesday, at which the ordinance could have been brought up for passage, and no committee report of the measure was brought in. It is believed that with the abolition of the tolls tomorrow the ordinance dies, but it was expected that as a formality the committee to which the bill was referred will report it unfavorably.

Must Take Over Road

The free bridge ordinance which went into effect today names a period of two years in which tolls will not be collected. At the end of that time the crossing tax will be automatically restored if Houston county, Minnesota, has not taken over as a county highway the road running from the "west approach of the Mississippi river wagon bridge" to La Crescent. Just why the ordinance requires Houston county to take over the road through Pettibone park as well as west from the West channel bridge, is not clear. It is believed that within two years Pettibone park will be traded to Wisconsin, the bills

FAMOUS SWINDLER WHO WORKED HERE CAUGHT IN SOUTH

John W. Kline Believed to Be Same Man Who Swindled Winona and Prominent La Crosse People

WAS NABBED IN WAUKESHA

Caught by Photograph Secured by Chief Webber; Taken in St. Louis After Breaking Jail

John W. Kline, known here as George Adler, one of the cleverest swindlers in the United States, who was arrested at St. Louis yesterday, is believed to be the man who perpetrated a $3,000 swindle upon Jacob Stirneman, Winona, Minn., well known land holder here. Kline escaped from jail at Waukesha, Wis., a few weeks ago.

The swindler also secured a large sum of money from a member of a prominent La Crosse family several years ago, according to Chief of Police John B. Webber, who has been requested to withhold the name.

Had Straight Business

Kline, who worked under scores of false names, has been operating a bank at Forrest City, Ark. His business there was conducted along up-right lines, while he carried on swindles, it is alleged, throughout the United States. He is said to have confessed to fraudulent deals aggregating more than $500,000.

It is believed by Chief of Police John B. Webber that Kline's operations have netted him amounts which will reach the million mark.

Chief Webber was the first to secure a photograph of Kline, identifying him with land swindles carried on in this part of the country, and it is probable that his investigations resulted indirectly in the arrest at St. Louis yesterday.

Shortly after the Stirneman swindle at Winona, La Crosse police arrested a tramp on a minor charge, who gave valuable information concerning Kline. The tramp told Chief Webber that he had been a convict at Fort Leavenworth federal prison with the man who had perpetrated swindles in this part of the country.

Chief Webber obtained a copy of the photograph which the Leavenworth prison authorities had taken and it was identified as the man who had robbed Stirneman.

It was about five years ago that Kline, then working under the names of J. W. Barnhart and George Adler, secured about $3,000 from Mr. Stirneman. Kline drew up a bogus deed for a farm near Winona, and sold the land to Stirneman.

Working under aliases everywhere he went, Kline obtained large sums of money right and left. He preyed upon villagers and unsuspecting farmers in the main, although some of his operations took in business men in large cities.

The foremost detective agencies in the country, including the Burns agency, failed to catch Kline until he was arrested at Waukesha a few weeks ago. The arrest came about through the photograph obtained by Chief Webber.

Kline was held at Waukesha on a charge of attempting to borrow a large sum of money on a forged deed to a piece of land at Menominee Falls, Wis. He broke jail at Waukesha, but was traced by detectives to St. Louis.

Extradition papers are now being secured for Kline and he will probably be returned to Waukesha to answer the charges against him there.

Waukesha county officials and Pinkerton detectives today started an investigation to apprehend the men involved in an amazing jail delivery plot that resulted in the escape of Kline and three other men from the Waukesha county jail.

It is charged by agents of the Pinkerton National Detective agency, who made the arrest, that John Voltz, one of Kline's or Barnhart's companions, bungled a horse stealing job in Waukesha and allowed him-

Society has surrendered to Tag Day.

As plans for the big campaign have been shaped by the women who are undertaking the task of financing the Visiting Nurse, the usual talk of week-end social activities has reversed itself and deals with the things that are being postponed or abandoned.

Leaders of the Tag Day organization are delighted over the spirit of co-operation in which the people of La Crosse are adjusting their affairs to the necessities of the campaign, and in consequence generous results are anticipated.

RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT IN FEVERISH HASTE TO PROTECT ITS CAPITAL

HOPE FOR PEACE IN EUROPE GROWS IN THE CAPITAL

British Concessions by Modifications of Trade Restrictions Are Encouraging

BELLIGERENTS ARE ATTENTIVE

United Press Finds British Peace Situation Has Undergone No Change

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Hope of peace in Europe is increasing in Washington.

The concessions the British announced in the way of small modifications in their trade restrictions came as a great encouragement. There was no intimation that they were in recognition of Germany's changed submarine policy, but, coming as a sequel to the Kaiser's not yet very formal pledge of more careful methods than his "U" boat commanders have hitherto followed in their undersea campaign, the news that Great Britain had yielded even slightly was deemed significant.

The belligerents at least show they are willing to listen to representations, it was pointed out, and to some extent to accede to them.

A start having been made, said optimists, there was no reason why steady progress should not result and as it would be in the direction of peace, peace was a destination which might finally be reached.

The intimation that Ambassador Bernstorff would return from his Long Island summer residence to Washington Thursday was interpreted as meaning that he looked for official advice from Berlin by that date.

The British promise of a relaxation of the "hard rule" provided by the order in council proved to be an offer to permit the forwarding to the United States of German and Austrian goods which Americans contracted for, though they did not make payment, prior to the date when the order in council became effective. Another point was that the American importers need not send their proofs to London but might make them at the British embassy in Washington, obviating delay and unnecessary expense.

Hopes were expressed that Germany would avail herself of the British offer, made some time ago, according to the London foreign office, to permit the passage under certain conditions, of two ship loads of German dye stuffs, already paid for by American textile manufacturers and much needed in this country.

Famines in various other lines of imports will be relieved, it was expected by Russia's termination of her embargo on shipments to the United States, under guarantees that her products will not be re-exported to her enemies.

Refugees Flock to Petrograd

Thousands of refugees from the Kovno district are reported to be flocking into Petrograd.

The correspondent of the Vossische Zeitung, who accompanied the Austro-German armies that entered Brest Litovsk, described the scene as "ghastly." The Russians, he said, had applied the torch to hundreds of buildings.

"From the outer forts to the center of the city there was ruin after ruin," he reported. "The market place was in chaos. The factory district was a melee of iron ovens and blackened walls. The railroad tracks were covered with wreckage of cars and dead cattle. The church or Brest Litovsk, with its blue dome and gold cross, had fallen in. And here was a city that had sheltered 50,000 inhabitants."

The Berlin newspapers today printed an article written by Captain Ziljedahl, liberal member of the Swedish parliament, who said that "no one wished the bloody fighting in the east to be halted and conditions restored as they were under Russian control."

"The first rays of the sun are now piercing the prison bars of Russia," wrote the Swedish member of parliament. "The civilized world dares not wish a cessation of Von Hindenburg's offensive until fifty million Finns, Poles and peoples of other nationalities are liberated."

Manufacture of Munitions Is Hurried and Technical Students Work in Factories

BERLIN, via Wireless to Sayville, Aug. 31.—Vilna is being evacuated and the Russian government is making feverish preparations to defend Petrograd from attack, according to press dispatches received here today.

Military supplies are being withdrawn from the fortress of Grodno, German aviators have reported, and the actual evacuation may be begun at any moment. The Russians are preparing to fall back to the Lida railway.

One German army moving on Grodno from the southwest is within a few miles of the outer forts. The troops that captured Linsk on Sunday are advancing on the western positions of the fortress. To the north, another German army that occupied the Russian stronghold of Olita is now within striking distance of the railway running from Grodno north to Vilna.

General Mackensen has inflicted another severe defeat on the rear guard of the Russian army that was driven from Brest Litovsk. He took 3,700 prisoners.

Halted Temporarily

The war office, however, admits that Russian counter attacks have temporarily halted the Austro-Germans in Galicia.

Petrograd regards the capture of the naval base at Riga by the German armies as certain. The strength of the German armies in the Courland region is taken as an indication that operations on a gigantic scale are being planned, consequently Russian munitions manufacturers are being urged to speed production to the limit. Students of Russian technical schools in many instances have been installed as workmen.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

LOST AND FOUND

By ANNE BROAD HURST

Copyright 1915, by the McCudde Newspaper Syndicate

Elinor came in tired from a hard day's work at the book store and found on her dresser a letter from a firm that had offered prizes for the best articles describing the merits of its own line of women's ready-to-wear suits. She tried to assume indifference, for the very outside appearance of the letter looked disappointing. She took off her hat and coat leisurely, but her cheeks were burning and her heart was chugging away laboriously.

As she opened the envelope there peeped out from between a small booklet and a fac-simile letter a slip of blue paper—a post office money order.

"One tiny, lonely dollar," she sighed, as she held the slip before her.

The verbose letter stated that her article had received one of fifty prizes of one dollar each and that in a contest in which the best brains of the country had competed it was a great honor to have been a winner of even a small prize. The blood had gone out of her cheeks and the chugging engine within had become quiet, but there were a kink in her nose and a thick place in her throat that were very hard to ignore.

Elinor stood up firmly, though, and said: "No, giving way to this defeat won't help to win the next battle, and I must win some day for mother's sake."

Having learned that a brisk walk and deep breathing in the cool air are a better cure for the blues than taking "a good cry," Elinor went out as soon as she had finished her dinner and walked until the darkness drove her in. As she neared her boarding house, and stood waiting for an automobile to pass before crossing over, she saw at the edge of the curb a man's leather bill purse which she picked up. As she saw no one near who could have dropped it, she took it to her room, where she found that it contained bills amounting to fifty dollars.

"Fifty dollars! Just what I hoped to win in that contest!" Then Elinor saw that the purse also contained some cards. "If I don't know whose it is I can't return it; and if I don't look at these cards I won't know, but—"

She laid the bills on the dresser and slowly removed the cards without looking at them, but stood running her finger across the slightly raised lettering.

"To a man who carries a purse of this quality and who uses engraved cards fifty dollars probably means very little," she mused, "but to me it means a winter suit and a month's board." Slowly she began to tear the cards, but as the tough paste-board began to yield to her trembling fingers she stopped abruptly.

"Horror!" she gasped. "I said I must win, and this is losing even my honor. Oh, I hate you!" and she swept the money from her and looked at the cards.

"Mr. Joseph Stanley Morton," she read, but the name meant nothing to her. She looked in the telephone book and found the following: "J. Morton, Broker, 515 City Bldg." No residence number being given, she could not notify him that night. Elinor had no opportunity to telephone during her busy morning, so she went during her noon hour next day to deliver the purse to its owner.

The spectacled, self-important woman who admitted her to the outer office looked her over carefully from her shimmering brown hair, all past the white collar and blue serge suit, down to the neatly shod feet. When Elinor had stated that she wished to see Mr. Morton on a matter of importance to him the woman disappeared into the private office, from which she reappeared very soon and nodded to the waiting girl.

As she entered Elinor saw that the only occupant of the room was a tall, well built man whose dark head was bent over a typewritten statement lying on the table before which he sat. Hearing the door close, he looked over his shoulder, and at sight of Elinor he immediately rose and turned upon her a kindly glance from a pair of dark gray eyes.

"Are you Mr. Joseph Stanley Morton?" Elinor began.

"Yes," The deep voice had a slightly rising inflection.

"Here is something of yours that I happened to find last night." She handed him the purse.

"Why what a pleasant surprise to find the purse, and how kind of you to bring it to me! I thank you sincerely. Now, won't you sit down and tell me all about it?" Stanley Morton was too thoroughly a gentleman not to recognize gentility in others, and he knew that here was a girl to whom he dared not offer a reward in money, but he wanted time to find other means of showing his appreciation of her kindness. Elinor sat down and told him briefly where and how she found the purse.

"I'm going to confess to you," said Morton, "that this very day I've been thinking that honesty is an unknown quantity these days, so, you see, you have restored to me far more than my lost money; you've restored my lost faith in humanity." He was leaning toward her with the friendliest look in his clear eyes, but the sudden change which swept over Elinor puzzled him.

"Don't, please don't," she almost wailed. "If you knew how near I came to keeping it you'd hate me. Oh, I must tell somebody—" and grasping the arms of her chair as if to support herself, and looking into her lap, she told him just what she first thought of doing with the money. As she talked her cheeks faded from crimson to white. Then she rose to leave. Stanley Morton had been sitting with his elbow on the table and his right hand shielding his eyes, but he rose quickly and stood between her and the door, with his right hand extended and a sympathetic smile in his eyes.

"Please let me say that I understand fully, and that I honor your bravery as much as your honesty. Many of us are passively honest when it's convenient, but you are actively honest even when it means a hard fight. You've made the world seem right again for me, and now won't you promise me that if I can ever make things easier for you, you will let me serve you?" The man's sincerity was unmistakable, and Elinor extended her hand and smiled at him frankly.

"You've already made things easier by forgiving me, and you've understood, and that is what counts most, you know." It was only after she had gone that Stanley Morton realized that she had not told him her name or given him any clue about her work.

One morning, a month later, as Elinor was at her work in the book store she turned from the shelves with half a dozen books in her arms and a near-sighted customer, intent upon a book he held, collided with her scattering the books in all directions. A gentleman who was approaching picked up two of the books and was about to pass on with formal acknowledgement of Elinor's thanks, when their eyes chanced to meet. It was Stanley Morton.

After a long, long look into each other's eyes, Stanley took the books and placed one on the table. The other he opened and pretended to be talking to her about it so that their conversation might appear usual to the other people about.

"At last I've found you, as I knew I should find you some day." His words came deliberately, but his tone made each word a caress. "But there are always twofold discoveries about you, and I'm daring to believe that I've found in your eyes evidence that in your heart there is something of the same love that has been growing in mine ever since the day I found you. This is no place to say it, but I love you and need you and want you."

Her eyes fell on the title of the book he held in his hand. It was "Paradise Regained."

AIRSHIPS SHOULD BE SALVATION OF ENGLAND IS CLAIM

Lecturer in Aeronautics Says Germany Could Be Subdued from Air

BY WILBUR S. FORREST

(United Press Staff Correspondent.) LONDON, (By Mail.)—England's salvation is in the air.

Batter down the Rhine bridges with daily air raids and trench warfare in France is ended.

Send a thousand aeroplanes with five bombs each over the huge Krupp munitions factory at Essen and Germany is seriously crippled.

Destroy the nine bridges over the Meuse that daily make possible the transport of arms and ammunition to the German armies in the west and the German armies will be on their knees.

Build or buy a thousand aeroplanes immediately, or two thousand or ten thousand and England will win.

This parcel of advice is the talk of England today. It is being printed in the newspapers, talked on the streets and handed to the government in parliament, through the war office and the admiralty.

It comes from England civilian strategists. They are agreed that England's future battles must be won in the upper stratum.

It was L. Blin Desbelds, lecturer in aeronautics at the Royal Military Academy, Woolwich, and one of the best known aeronautical experts in England, who first told the government that it should create and support a ministry of aviation. Today the government is said to be considering such a ministry.

Today Desbelds is asking the government to add to its air fleet a thousand aeroplanes at once.

Collaborating with other experts Desbelds has gathered the following information in support of his aerial offensive and handed it to the government.

That an average of one military train every ten minutes crosses each of the fifteen bridges spanning the Rhine. They carry food, ammunition and reinforcements to the German armies in the west. This means that during every 24 hours 144 military trains pass into France and Belgium over each of these Rhine bridges or 2,160 over all of them. The German armies are wholly dependent on this constant supply and are provisioned in reserves for four days only.

That every ounce of supplies carried by this great steel caravan must cross nine bridges spanning the Meuse to reach the bulk of the German forces now holding back the British and French on the great line across the continent.

Desbelds has further suggested to the government that their daily air raids over both the Rhine and Meuse must seriously hamper the enemy's supply. One thousand aeroplanes on this duty within a week, Desbelds suggested, could possibly not only cut off the vast supplies of the enemy but render the German campaign in the west practically impossible.

WATER SUPPLY DISCUSSED

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Aug. 31.—At a recent meeting of the Uitenhage municipality a scheme for augmenting the town's water supply was discussed. The scheme has been devised by R. W. Menzies and is intended to secure supply of 2,000,000 gallons from the Zwartkops river at Springfield, at a cost of £115,000.

EUROPEAN WARRIORS EQUIP THEMSELVES IN BOTH ANCIENT AND MODERN MANNER

Twentieth century infantry armored and armed.

Features of the war which have attracted universal attention have been the way in which long-obsolete battle-weapons and defensive armor have again been resorted to. To the left, in the accompanying picture, is a soldier begoggled and muzzled against German poison-gas, wearing a species of equipment not unlike that ancient Chinese warriors originally used in opposing "stink-pot" and "snake-ball" attacks. In the center and on the right are two bombers, or hand-grenade flingers, each wearing the steel skull-cap worn in action as late as the seventeenth century.

LAST ACT A LAW

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 31.—With the official publication of the Caldwell bill amending the mother's pension law and giving state aid to dependent mothers, the last of the acts of the 1915 legislature have become laws. It will take about three months to issue the new statutes for 1915. The revisor's office is busily engaged in this long task.

CHAIN GANG WON'T CUT WEEDS

MARION, Ind., Aug. 31.—You may lead a prisoner to a patch of weeds, but you can't make him work. The city authorities have abandoned their plan of using county prisoners in cutting weeds about the city. They declare it's cheaper to buy chemicals to destroy the weeds than to pay four or five men to try to compel the prisoners to work.

TEAM WORK

It is interesting to note that Mrs. S. L. Dudley and Mrs. W. F. Miller were named as joint prize winners with their husbands in the Wisconsin "top-notch farmers' contest" just concluded. Perhaps to some men there is an element of the unexpected in reading that:

"Each prize (in the contest) was given to the farmer and his wife, as being joint partners in the farm business."

Why be surprised? There is hardly a farmer you know, scarcely a business or professional man, who does not owe much of his success to his wife. We recognize and admire this in the wives we know. Why do some of us hesitate to accept the generality that includes also the women we do not know?

We are not all so, of course. But the spirit of the nation, the average of our individual beliefs, is thus hesitant. We are making up our minds for the plunge, though. The "top-notch farmers' contest" rule that the prize goes to the winning teams is significant. Ten years ago it would not have occurred to the managers of the competition.

THE QUICKNESS OF THE HAND DECEIVES THE EYE

The appropriation of the highway commission was cut $25,000 by the legislature. The actual cost of all surveys made by the commission is to be paid by the counties for whom the work is done. At first glance both provisions might be taken as economy measures. As a matter of fact—let's see.

Heretofore surveys were made by the commission at a flat rate of ten dollars a mile. That was below cost. Some of the surveys ran as high as a hundred dollars a mile. The average for the state was something over twenty-seven dollars, according to the highway commission's figures. But the county paid only the flat rate, regardless of the difficulties involved.

The actual difference to the people, of course, is not. Either way they pay the cost, indirectly under the old plan, directly under the old. The point is that in boasting "economy" for the new plan the administration which passed it is not frank. The difference which appears in favor of the new plan is a difference of juggled figures.

PARK A SUCCESS

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Aug. 31.—Winnebago park here is going to see many improvements, if the program of the Winnebago Park association as outlined in their recent annual banquet is carried out. In spite of the bad weather here during the summer the park has been successful according to its promoters, and they are planning big things for next year.

Here's An Actor With a Chauffeur

"Say," said Manager Frank Koppelman to Billy "Swede" Hall, who is on the bill at the Majestic opening show, "Who's that young fellow with you? He's not in the act, you don't carry a property man, do you?"

"No," answered Hall, "That's my chauffeur."

After the manager had received Mr. Hall, who, when he is at home, runs a big New York hotel, explained that he had intended to motor to La Crosse, but that when he got as far as Chicago the roads got so bad from the continued rains that he had to give it up and store his car. He's taking the chauffeur along because he doesn't know what else to do with him, he said.

If the roads get better, Mr. Hall plans to make his jumps by auto whenever possible, shipping his scenery by express.

RUSSIA'S NEW WAR MINISTER PROMISED HELP BY THE JAPS

General Polivanoff.

General Polivanoff, Russia's new minister of war, finds that his nation's great difficulty is lack of arms and ammunition. He has secured a promise from Japan of material aid in the way of munitions, which will be sent via the trans-Siberian rail way.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Nineteen-fifteen Model
Behold the newest summer girl
In Vandyke skirt that shows
At every bend and bow and whirl
Her varicolored hose
And shoes of purple, pink and green
And many shades that lie between.

Last year she was a thing of lines,
With blouse decollette,
But now her fickle taste inclines
To give her ankles play
And swathe her neck with collars high
And filmy frills to catch the eye.

She turns her thoughts to winter's chill,
If she be up to date,
And round her slender shoulders still Wears furs immaculate,
And bears a parasol for shade,
Lest she might tan, the foolish maid!

And just above her nose she ties
A veil whose silken threads
Enhance the splendor of her eyes
And turn admirers' heads,
Until they follow, unashamed,
Where'er she leads, completely tamed.

Her costumes vary every year,
From most ornate to simple,
But each new season she's as dear
With blush and curl and dimple;
She will not lose her charm, I'm sure,
When girls and styles—and men—
endure.

—Chicago Daily News.

A Fellow Feeling

"All sorts and conditions of men have excellent explanations for their position in life," said the senator. "A tramp, however, came under my observation who had no illusions about the cause of his own condition."

"A fine looking and fashionable dressed woman had just alighted from her limousine at the hotel entrance and was suddenly approached by this shabbily dressed man, who requested a dime."

"No, I have no money to spare for you," she said. "I do not see why an able-bodied man like you should go about begging."

"I s'pose, ma'am," replied the lazy tramp, "it's fer about the same reason that a healthy woman like you boards at a hotel instead of keepin' house."—Harper's Magazine.

No Precedent

Mrs. Lewis had made it a practice every night just before bedtime to read some verses from the Bible to her little ones. Among those verses which she particularly endeavored to impress on their young minds was "Whosoever smiteth thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also."

The following morning Jack came into the house sobbing bitterly.

"Why what's the matter?" anxiously queried the mother.

"Sister hit me."

"Have you forgotten about turning the other cheek?"

"N-n-no, boo-hoo!" wailed Jack, "but I couldn't; she hit me in the middle."—Harper's Magazine.

Where the Cheese Was

"I am so sorry, Mr. Portly," apologized the hostess to her unexpected guest.

Uncle Sol threw aside the letter he was reading and uttered an exclamation of impatience.

"Doggone!" he cried, "why can't people be more explicit?"

"What's the matter, pa?" asked Aunt Sue.

"This letter from home," Uncle Sol answered, "says father fell out of the apple tree and broke a limb."—Youngstown Telegram.

but influential guest at dinner, "but I have no cheese in the house."

"Pray do not mention it," Mrs. Phipps, smiled the genial old boy. "I am sure"

His little compliment was interrupted by the appearance of the small son of his hostess at his side, bearing a piece of cheese upon a plate.

"Well, now, that is very kind of you, little man," he said as the child stood delightedly watching him swallow the tit-bit. "You knew more than mother that time. Where did you find the cheese?"

The youngster intently watched the last morsel disappear before he answered.

"I found it in the rat trap," he proudly asserted.—Kansas City Times.

Paid for the Blind

A tradesman in a certain town put a box outside his shop one day, labeled "For the Blind." A few weeks afterward the box disappeared.

"Halloo! What's happened to your box for the blind?" he was asked.

"Oh, I got enough money," he replied. "And," pointing upward to the new canvas blind that sheltered his shop window, "there's the blind. Not bad, is it?"—London Answers.

Antigonous

Uncle Sol threw aside the letter he was reading and uttered an exclamation of impatience.

"Doggone!" he cried, "why can't people be more explicit?"

"What's the matter, pa?" asked Aunt Sue.

"This letter from home," Uncle Sol answered, "says father fell out of the apple tree and broke a limb."—Youngstown Telegram.

A Long Trip

He was a college professor, who was greatly beloved because of his kind heart, but who had the not uncommon scholastic failing of absent-mindedness. One day his married niece favored him for a long time with loud praises of her first-born. When at last she paused for breath, the professor felt that he must say something.

"Can the little fellow walk?" he asked, with every appearance of interest.

"Walk?" cried the mother indignantly, "Why, he's been walking now for five months!"

"Dear me!" exclaimed the professor, again relapsing into abstraction. "What a long way he must have gone!"—The Re-Saw.

Jack—"Oh, he's the sort that leaves his car in front of the church and goes across the street to shoot a game of pool."—Exchange.

Quite a number of young men who graduated from college this spring are now busy trying to acquire an education.

CONTEST PRIZES RECOGNIZE BEST OF STATE FARMS

Recent Management Competition Demonstrates That Badger Farming Is Good Paying Business

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 31.—Although several hundred dollars in cash were awarded the winners in the Wisconsin farm management contest, which was recently held at Fort Atkinson, the real prizes were not paid in money. As a result of this year's contest each farmer and his wife has demonstrated that farming in Wisconsin can be made a highly profitable business, and have received public recognition of their success.

Although a very large proportion of the entire 440 farms entered in the contest are being successfully operated and showed satisfactory incomes, but a limited number could be selected as prize winners. They were selected as being especially well balanced in their operations. Net profit, maintenance of soil fertility, well rounded home life, health of herd, and general appearance of the farm were all given consideration by the contest committee.

Ex-Governor W. D. Hoard presented the Hoard's Dairyman prizes amounting to $500 to the state winners. For the Wisconsin Agriculturist, Senator Charles H. Everett awarded more than $200 to the winning farms in the twenty-one counties represented in the contest. Each prize was given to the farmer and his wife, as being joint partners in the farm business.

The state prizes were awarded as follows:

First prize, D. L. Williams and daughter, Waukesha county; second, Ezra Blumer and wife, Green county; third, W. J. Gillette and wife, and son and wife, Fond du Lac county; fourth, H. W. Haberman and wife, Green county; fifth, A. F. Gafke and wife, Jefferson county; sixth, James Baird and wife, and W. Baird, Waukesha county; the four seventh prizes were won by M. L. Welles and wife, Fond du Lac county; G. F. Comings and wife, Eau Claire county; L. P. Martiny and wife, Chippewa county; W. F. Miller and wife, La Crosse county; and the seven eighth prizes were awarded to E. L. Benedict and wife, Rock county; Charles Lathers and wife, Rock county; W. T. Moore and wife, Rock county; John Waelti and wife, Green county; O. Hake and wife, and C. Hake and wife, Jefferson county; S. L. Mann and wife, Waukesha county, and Henry Anthus and wife, Jefferson county; the nine ninth prizes went to Jake Schmidt and wife, Wood county; F. C. Kruse and wife, Sauk county; A. W. Hargrave, and R. O. Hargrave and wife, Fond du Lac county; Jesse Crump and wife, Jefferson county; W. J. Ward and wife, and sons, Rock county; T. Wright, Fond du Lac county; H. A. Longley and wife, Waukesha county; Earl Thomas and wife, Sauk county, and S. L. Dudley and wife, La Crosse county.

The county winners were:

Barron county, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clark; Douglas county, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lavett; Dunn county, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kilking; Eau Claire county, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Comings; Fond du Lac county, W. J. Gillette and wife and son and wife; Forest county, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Grandine; Green county, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Blumer; Jefferson county, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Gafke; La Crosse county, Mr. and Mrs. S. FROST WARNINGS TO SAVE CROPS

U. S. Weather Bureau at Madison Will Send Warnings All Over State Including La Crosse

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 31.—The "weather man" who has been pulling the "rain lever" regardless of crop conditions, is about to "square himself" with the farmers of the state.

Warnings of approaching cold "snaps" which may injure crops will be sent to local distributors at 30 points in the southern and central part of Wisconsin by the office of the weather bureau of the United States department of agriculture stationed at the University of Wisconsin.

These advanced forecasts will be based upon information received from the entire country. Data will be determined by reference to the carefully prepared weather maps which show disturbances advancing across the plains from the west or north-west one or two days before their arrival in the upper Mississippi valley.

Notices will be sent to the various stations as soon as there is danger of frost even in low places. It will therefore be important for the farmer to get the exact wording of the messages from day to day, since frost often occurs in low land from a week

MANY CHANGES IN INSURANCE LAWS

Fully a Score of Important Alterations Are Made by the Legislature of 1915

MANY MORE WERE DEFEATED

One Bill Killed Would Have Made Commissioner the Judge of Reasonableness of Rates

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 31. — More than a score of important changes have been made in the insurance laws at this session of the legislature. Fully as many additional proposed changes were defeated, including a measure which would have given to the commissioner of insurance the right to investigate insurance rates and pass upon their reasonableness. Many of the laws enacted at this session affect mutual companies.

Under new laws passed at this session town mutual companies are authorized to borrow money without levying an assessment at the time of making the loan; another exempts agents or adjusters for town mutual companies from the necessity of having an adjuster's certificate; a third authorizes town mutual companies to amend their articles of organization without notice, by a two-thirds vote at the annual meeting, also by a two-thirds vote at a special meeting, providing thirty days notice reciting the proposed amendment has been given by mail to members; and a fourth authorizes a mutual company to borrow money from any officer, director, member, or other person for the purpose of conducting the company's business. No discount or commission can be paid to the person making the loan. One of the last laws to be enacted at the session authorized town mutual companies to loan money upon personal notes signed by two persons who own real estate in the territory in which the company operates.

A great importance in the insurance field was the modification of the laws passed in 1907, which resulted in over twenty companies retiring from the state. The principal modifications contained in this act relate to the method of computing the reserve, the amount provided for expenses and contingencies, the form of report and the factors used in apportioning the surplus. Several of the companies are now making arrangements to return to the state under this law.

A number of measures affecting life insurance companies were enacted. One empowers the trustees of a domestic life insurance company, by unanimous vote, to fix the salary of an officer at more than $25,000 a year. Under the old law no salary in excess of that amount could be paid except by a vote of the policyholders. Another law exempts the Wisconsin premium income of the Wisconsin companies from the 3 per cent tax.

There were a large number of laws affecting the transacting of all sorts of insurance business. The state fire marshal's office has been consolidated with the department of insurance, the legal end of the fire marshal's office being transferred to the office of the attorney general. One new chapter punishes by a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500 the making of any false statement or false entry in books, or exhibiting any false paper with the intent to deceive any person authorized to examine into the affairs of a company. The bonds and other securities of insurance companies may be valued by the amortization method under a law passed. A stringent law was enacted which prohibits the use of any name or policies or advertising matter that tends to conceal or misrepresent the true identity of the insurer or the company issuing the policy. Still another new law provides for the punishment of any person, agent, policyholder, or physician who makes any false statement as to the death or disability of a policyholder.

A new law of interest to fire departments provides that if any city entitled to state fire department dues fails to make the inspections required, thereby losing its share of the dues, it shall be compelled to raise an equal sum by taxation to be paid into the firemen's pension fund. This amendment applies only to cities where the fire department dues go into the pension fund. Members of fraternal societies may be divided into classes, under a new law, but in such case the law requires segregation of assets and reserve for the benefit of the classes. A fine of from $25 to $500 may be imposed on any person making false representations, to induce a person to take out a policy of insurance, or forfeit a policy which he is carrying.

Companies or general agencies may institute contests among agents and to award tokens of small intrinsic value. Whenever such article costs more than $10 a statement must be filed with the commissioner of insurance showing the total cost of the competition. Promotion expense is changed from 10 to 15 per cent upon the amount actually paid upon stock subscriptions. The valued policy law is repealed, but other legal safeguards are provided.

CORN OR CASH FOR VOTES

DES MOINES, Iowa, Aug. 31.—To secure funds to carry out their campaign for votes to secure a constitutional amendment, giving women the ballot at the next state wide primary election, the suffrage leaders have issued a call upon every farmer's wife in the state to give a bushel of corn, or its value in cash, to the fund. At the state fair here the suffrage leaders have a corn booth where fair visitors are delivering their corn or agreeing to pay the cash. In every county in the state an agent was named to receive and care for the corn and attend to its sale. Many thousands of bushels of corn are being obtained.

PILSENER SHELLS WORK GREAT HAVOC

WARSAW, Aug. 8.—(By Mail.)—"Small arms and bullets are playing no role in the present war. The rifle is the infantryman's toy. The infantryman does not fight. When the big guns have finished the infantryman merely scrambles into the trenches they have won and occupies them."

This is the statement of Surgeon-Major Lezhintseff, who has just returned from the scene of the big battle in Galicia. "Seven-eighths of the wounds are from shells, half of these from big calibre shells and the rest from field howitzers and field guns."

The shell that the Russians most fear is the Skoda 42 centimetre projectile weighing 2,800 pounds. They are known to the soldiers as "Pilseners." The normal projectile of the Skoda gun is 4 1-2 miles high and in soft ground the shells penetrate 20 feet before exploding. The "Pilseners" are howitzer guns and the projectiles except in diameter do not represent the famous Krupp 42 centimetre shells, also used by the Germans.

Describing the effect of a "pilsener" shell, the surgeon said: "It kills everyone within 150 yards and kills others who are further off. The mere pressure of gas breaks in the partitions and roofs of bomb-proof shelters. Scores of men, who escape metal fragments, stones and showers of earth, are killed, lacerated or blinded by the pressure of gas. Men who are only a short distance away are torn asunder. Sometimes only the clothes are stripped off. Of men close by not a fragment remains, the clothes disappear and only small metal articles are found. If the shell is very near the explosion melts rifle barrels as if they were struck by lightning. Men who disappear in such explosions are often reported missing, as there is no proof of their death."

IMPROVEMENT WAS CAUSE OF STRIKE

Corset Company Which Shortened Hours Found Itself with Unexpected Walk-out

BUT 'T WAS SETTLED QUICKLY

A. F. of L. Representatives Got Speedy Hearing and Everything They Wanted

Labor conditions are always interesting. A strike is exceptionally so, and the recent strike at the factories of the Warner Brothers company—the manufacturers of Redfern and Warner's Rust-Proof Corsets—perhaps one of the most interesting as typifying the modern theory that capital and labor are the equal in a bargain.

Strikes were the order of the day in Bridgeport, but there was no suspicion of any discontent among the thousands of employees of the Warner Brothers company. Mr. D. H. Warner, vice president and general manager of the Warner Brothers company, appreciating the sound point of view of the other Bridgeport employees and realizing the benefits to both the employer and employee for a shorter working week, announced on Saturday, August 14, a fifty hour week to take effect immediately. Previous to this, the factories, as was the general rule in Bridgeport, had been working on a fifty-five hour basis.

Struck on False Belief Then came the misinterpretations. The foreign speaking hands believed that their earnings were to be curtailed, not sensing the full import of the notice to the effect that piece prices would be adjusted to afford them the same net earnings. and Monday morning found a full fledged mutiny in swing.

"What were the demands? What was the trouble?" In vain the management sought to discover the complaints and it was not until representatives from the American Federation of Labor arrived on the scene late in the day that order grew out of chaos.

Thanks to the representatives from the federation the strikers were organized Monday evening and their grievances aired. Mr. Warner expressed himself ready and willing to grant all reasonable requests, and Tuesday when a committee appeared before him with these requests an agreement was immediately reached.

A forty-eight hour week was requested, and this was readily granted with day prices to remain the same and piece prices to be raised in every instance at least 12 1/2 per cent.

The factory was to close Saturdays at 11:30. Mr. Warner himself suggested an additional amendment to the effect that no girls under sixteen were to be employed.

Wednesday saw the strike settled in every respect, with a satisfactory agreement to all, the Warner Brothers company from the first having been intent on bettering conditions in every way, and benefitting through the strike in hearing several minor grievances brought out which the management were only too glad to rectify.

Strike Not Unwelcome The company has for many years been recognized not only in Bridgeport, but by the corset trade throughout the country, for the consideration it gives to its employees, and the strike was a most unexpected surprise, though as has since been proved not an unwelcome one, bringing as it did certain minor difficulties to light.

Mr. Warner's attitude is well shown by a notice sent out last December to the heads of the various departments which explains to a great extent the speedy and amicable settlement of the strike. This notice, dated December 14, declared the company would do whatever was necessary to place upon their feet employees who were in trouble for whatever cause. The company also extended this helping service to people not directly in its employ, but who were connected by family ties with employees of the plant, and even undertook to investigate and do whatever it found itself able to accomplish for every deserving case reported, although absolutely outside of its family of employees. The company's notice said:

"We believe it is up to every institution and every individual that has anything ahead of the game, in a large or small way—in accordance with their means and ability, to help the people that are less fortunate over the coming winter."

FLIES HELP TURKS IN DARDANELLES

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(By Mail.)—The allied forces in the Dardanelles are not only fighting Turks but a formidable army of flies.

The flies are even worse than the Turks, writes a correspondent from Gallipoli.

Food is black with flies the instant it is brought to light and sleep is almost impossible due to the constant buzzing attacks of the winged enemy. Jam, which enters largely into the sweets of army stores, is pounced upon greedily and it is only by dexterous and long practiced maneuvers that a soldier is able to beat the flies to the eating of it.

Midsummer in Gallipoli finds the soldier wearing khaki drill shirts, trousers that end just above the knee.

Cigarettes on the peninsula are an absolute luxury, according to the correspondent. The soldiers are willing to pay a heavy price for cigarettes sold by small Greek "canteens," behind the allied lines. The cigarettes are made in Germany but the troops smoke them just the same.

FEW FAILURES IN THE BADGER STATE

Of All the Forty-Nine States Wisconsin Record of Success is the Best

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 31.—(Special.)—That business concerns in this state are operating along sane, constructive lines is shown in a report just received by B. G. Packed, director of the division of immigration of the state department of agriculture, from the department of commerce and labor, giving the percentage of commercial failures for 1914. Of 49 states, Wisconsin presents the most remarkable record, having 48,850 firms engaged in business and a percentage of failures less than one-half of one per cent. Only one state, and that with but one-fourth the number of firms—exhibits so gratifying a showing. States having the highest and lowest percentage are as follows:

	No. of Firms.	No. of Failures.	Pct of Failures.
Oregon	16,485	489	2.96
Florida	13,794	404	2.92
Washington	23,856	495	2.09
Wisconsin	48,850	325	.48
S. Dakota	10,220	46	.45

In proportion to number of firms doing business, the high commercial standard of Badger business men is even more striking than indicated in the report, and is especially significant in view of Wisconsin's liberal exemption laws.

Two thousand union men, it is expected, the largest turnout in the history of organized labor in the city, will march in the procession which will inaugurate the annual Labor Day festivities next Monday. Complete plans for labor's yearly celebration were announced today by Organizer John Rae, of the Trades and Labor council, who is head of the Labor Day committee.

Picnic at Shooting Park
The big parade will form on Market square, and will be under way by 9 o'clock. It will march through the downtown district and out Twelfth street to the old shooting park, where the Labor Day picnics have been held for years. Three bands will furnish music for the march. Many of the locals will be clad in uniforms.

A feature of the parade new this year will be the Trades and Labor council as a separate section of the parade. The council will march as a body just behind the Labor Day committee, which will lead the procession. Heretofore the delegates have marched with the locals which they represent in the council.

At the park a program of sports and speeches has been arranged. Mayor A. A. Bentley and Senator Otto Boshard are to be the orators of the day. They will be introduced by Fred H. Hartwell, counsel of the Trades and Labor council.

Ball Games Scheduled
The sport program includes two indoor ball games, one between the Printers and the Bottlers, and a second between the Cigarmakers and the victors in the first match. There will be a race for presidents of the local unions, a boys' race, a girls' race, a free-for-all hundred yard dash and a sack race.

The day will close with a dance at Armory hall.
The line of march of the parade will be from the Market square north on Fourth street to Pearl, west on Pearl to Front, north on Front to Main, east on Main to Eighth, south on Eighth to Cass, east on Cass to Twelfth, and south on Twelfth street to the park. The procession will counter-march at Twelfth and Cass streets, that the marchers may watch their fellows in the procession.

Order of Procession
The make-up of the parade was made public today as follows:

President Cotton sees also a great advantage to the cause of good teaching. Young men shun teaching, largely because they do not appreciate the great field it offers. Many young men in the college course, seeing boys from the normal course going out to fine positions upon good pay, revise their opinions and take up teaching. WHO WORKED HERE
CAUGHT IN SOUTH

He was to be arrested. This was part of the plot, according to the Pinkertons, and was done because someone was needed on the "inside" to help Barnhardt get away. Robert Howe and George Brown, who escaped with Barnhardt and Voltz, were recaptured. Howe is charged with horse stealing and Brown with burglary.

Remarkable Life Story
It is believed that a number of men whose names are not now known aided in the preliminary arrangements for the jail delivery and the escape of Barnhardt and Voltz from Waukesha.

Barnhardt's life story is one of the most remarkable in American criminal history.

Using the name of Albright and Kline, Barnhardt began in 1898 a series of loan deed forgeries believed to have brought him $500,000, according to the Pinkertons. When he had made a fortune and was being searched for all over the country as Albright or Kline five years ago Barnhardt went into Texas, buried a body as that of Albright and succeeded in having information sent to every public and private detective agency in the country that Albright was dead.

Is Founder of Bank
Under the name of J. W. Barnhardt, he went to live in Forrest City, Ark., where soon he founded the Planters Bank and Trust company. He bought a home and large farms. He married and became the father of three children.

He disappeared from Forrest City last December and no explanation was made. Search for him was unsuccessful.

Barnhardt was arrested in Waukesha while he was trying to make a deal on an alleged bogus deed.

Wife Is Shadowed
Following his escape, Pinkerton detectives found that he had been writing to a woman named Barnhardt who lived in Forrest City. A detective sent there discovered that Mrs. Barnhardt and the children were out of the city. He obtained entrance to the house and found there a life size portrait of Barnhardt which proved that he and Adler were the same man.

Barnhardt's wife and children were traced to St. Louis. There they were shadowed until Saturday, when Barnhardt joined them.

Governor Emanuel Philipp will deliver an address at the fair during the afternoon, La Crosse day and Governor's day having been combined.

Reason for Her Social Prominence.

"Eh-yah!" said the landlord of the tavern at Polkville, Ark., in reply to the question of the Kansas City drummer. "The lady that just passed is one of our most prominent society leaders. She's already caused four men to be shot, and as you saw, she's still medium young and considerable handsome."

BURGLARIOUS FLASH
AT DOOR GIVES CHILL
TO DR. T. H. M'GOVERN

The talk at the club had been all of the robbery of Dr. E. A. Gatterdam's office and the attempted robbery of six other dentists' offices. So when Dr. T. H. McGovern went home to the suite of rooms behind his office on the second floor at 506 Main street, he was thinking in terms of burglars.

Two hours elapsed.
The doctor is resting uneasily, dreaming of hand-to-hand battles with a burglar who is attempting to wrest from his hand thousands of dollars worth of platinum. There is a sound at the door. The doctor's troubled sleep comes to an abrupt end. He sits up.

On the frosted glass of his door wavers the burglarious nimbus of a flashlight. There is a gentle rattle of the door knob and a scratch at the lock. A murmur of voices—subdued.

"There he is," thinks the doctor. Silently he slips from the bed. Across the floor he squirms on his pajama-clad tummy. The telephone! He reaches up and takes it from the table.

"Four-O-four," he whispers to central.

"Police station?" he murmurs with his eyes fixed on the spot of light trembling across his door. "Send a man to 506 Main street. Hurry!"

Then back to the bed, where he sits with the covers drawn about him, his ears palpitant at each scratch of the lock, his eyes fascinated by the flashlight's dancing play. He shivers—but remember there was a killing frost Sunday night.

The suspense becomes heavy—unbearable. Why does not the policeman come? What good is a policeman going to do him after he is confronted, unarmed, by a desperate burglar?

Then a happy thought! The window into the hall! It is not frosted. He can watch the thieves at work. If they force entrance he can escape. He tiptoes across the floor and draws the curtain—takes one long look.

Then:
"Four-O-four," loud and fearless. "Never mind sending a man to 506 Main. There's a couple of cops here now examining my door to see that the burglar didn't try to get in."

authorizing the trade having passed both the Minnesota and Badger legislatures at the sessions just closed.

"No More Tolls"—Taggart
"There will never be a toll on the bridge again," said Harry Taggart, secretary of the Retail Merchants' association, and the man who fought the free bridge fight through to successful issue. "The people of the city won't stand it after a year of unrestricted passage across the bridge. The bridge has paid for itself in tolls already, and the people will not stand to pay for a bridge and be taxed every time they want to use it."

"There will be no more tolls. Minnesota will take care of the road. They have put it into better shape this summer than it ever was before, and from my talks with influential men over there I believe there is little question they will adopt the road as an official highway."

The free bridge fight was waged in La Crosse for six years. It went six times before the council and twice before the people in a referendum before it reached success. Harry Taggart fathered the idea here and led the forefront of the fight for it steadily.

Six years ago the coming winter Mr. Taggart made a two weeks trip through Houston and Winona counties. He was investigating for the retail merchants to the region, which kept the trade with Minnesota to low figures. He found that everywhere the farmers protested against being charged for coming to La Crosse to do business, and when Mr. Taggart returned he had names of several hundred farmers who petitioned for a free bridge.

Beaten in Council
The matter was taken up with the retail grocers. They endorsed it. The retail merchants fell promptly into line, and from that time the fight was steadily kept up. It went before the council in several different guises, each time to meet defeat until this June.

The question of the upkeep of the road to La Crosse, built and owned by the city of La Crosse although in the state of Minnesota, was long a thorn in the sides of the free bridge advocates.

"If we are to remove the tolls," was the attitude of the council, "Minnesota must do its share by taking care of the road."

Since Houston county communities were averse to the free bridge for the trade it would divert to La Crosse the proposal to take over the road found little favor there. For a long time the free bridge was held back by this deadlock, but eventually its advocates found what promised to be a way out. In 1911 a fund of $8,500 was subscribed—$10,000 was guaranteed—for the rebuilding of the La Crosse road, provided the bridge was made free. The money was subscribed by La Crosse business men. Several thousand dollars was also raised in Minnesota territory among the farmers who wanted the bridge free, for the repair of roads leading to the La Crosse pike. The free bridge was almost in sight, but the council again refused to remove the tolls. The money was returned to the subscribers, and Mr. Taggart and his forces went at it in another way.

Big Reception In
German Capital

LONDON, Aug. 31.—The Berlin press hears that former Secretary of State Bryan is coming to Berlin and "promises a reception worthy of the cause he so eloquently advocates," the Amsterdam correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph wired today.

"The German government considers the Arabic incident closed and has declared its willingness to blame the submarine commander when he returns," continued the correspondent. "There is considerable bitterness in military circles on account of the chancellor's so-called weakness toward the United States and consequently some ill feeling toward America."

The Berlin bureau of the United Press cabled yesterday that it was reported that Bryan intended to visit Europe on a peace mission. At Winona Lake, Ind., Bryan made this comment:

"I have no intention whatever of going to Europe. I have plans made to deliver addresses in this country. There is absolutely nothing to the report."

Submarine Is Searched but No Trace Is Found of Bodies of Lost
Sailors

HONOLULU, Aug. 31.—The body of one of the sailors of the submarine F-4, badly decomposed, was found in the middle compartment of the wrecked submersible today, after a search of several hours.

HONOLULU, Aug. 31.—The submarine F-4 which sank in Pearl harbor, March 25, and was brought into dry dock here last night was fully exposed early today. Through a large hole in the bow all compartments were examined, but no trace was found of the bodies of the submarine's crew. They are believed to be buried under piles of sand and other debris in the submersible's interior.

The work of dry-docking was completed at 10:45 p. m. and squads of marines stationed about the exposed hull to keep away curious sight-seers. A string of electric lights were erected over the submarine and laborers began scraping off masses of mud and sand that had adhered to the sides.

Shortly after midnight a great jagged hole was discovered through which four naval officers were let down through the hole. They were within the hull for but a short time and were dragged out said they had saw nothing that looked like a human body.

One officer hazarded the guess that corpses of the submarine's sailors were washed out of the aperture while the vessel was being brought to the surface and sank to the bottom of Pearl Harbor. It was thought possible, however, that several would be found beneath the thick coating of mud and sand inside the hull.

RESPECT FOR COIN GROWS

Banker Predicts Business of the World Will Soon
Be Done With
Then

BY LOWELL MELLETT
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The eagle on the American dollar has become an international bird. Wherever goods are bought or sold our bird is becoming known. Another year and he'll be about the best known fowl that ever took wing, if the dreams of New York financiers come true.

Every time Wall street notes the quotation on English pound sterling these days, Wall street's respect for the American dollar grows. It is not too much to say Wall street always held the dollar in high esteem, but it is more than that now for the big bankers and the little bankers are of one opinion that the dollar is just about to take the place and prestige of pounds sterling.

Already they say, almost as much foreign business is done with the dollar as the basis as is done in pounds sterling and soon, at the present rate, the advantage will be with the American coin.
Demand sterling broke to 4.58 1/2 today, off 2 1/4 from yesterday but soon was quoted at 4.59, a new low record. Little more than a year ago it was 6.50.

Demand sterling dropped again this afternoon, making a new low record at 4.57 1/2, a 3 1/2 cent decline from yesterday and approximately 30 cents under par. Dealings in foreign exchange today were virtually at a standstill.

Fluctuation Hindrance
"The world cannot do business with exchange that fluctuates like that," explained a banker today. "The world will have to come to the dollar. Sterling drops off a cent very day or so. Figure the loss to the man who has made sales based on sterling."

"Of what advantage will it be to the United States to have the dollar become the world's principal exchange medium?" he was asked.

Being a banker, he answered from a banker's standpoint of view.
New York Would Get Business
"The business of the world will have to be done through New York. New York will take its commission, naturally."

"Is that all?"
"Well, it will bring business to this country. It is to be expected. Business men of other countries will prefer to do business where the exchange does not fluctuate."
Anyhow, unless the lead given the United States by the European war is lost when the war ends, tight-fisted men will be making the eagle scream in every market place of the world in another year or two, so the bankers declare.

Julian B. Green of St. Louis, one of the best known motor boatmen in the Missouri metropolis and prominent in the activities of the Mississippi Valley Power Boat association, arrived in La Crosse today in one of the handsomest modern runabouts ever seen on the waters of the upper river. The craft is a marvel of mahogany and white enamel beauty and was inspected by a large number of people at the city dock. It is fitted with electric starter, electric cigar lighters and all of the "frills" found on the finest automobiles. The construction and finish are especially fine and are really far out of the ordinary in boat construction. The craft is a 26-footer and is driven by a six cylinder all-enclosed Scripps engine, the first of this type of machine to be demonstrated on the upper river. The boat is designed by Walter Beauvais, the famous St. Louis designer, and was built by the Saint Louis Yacht & Boat company, whose big plants at Alton and St. Louis constitute the largest boat building industry in the entire middle west. Mr. Green, accompanied by Mrs. Green, is on a demonstrating trip and has visited all of the leading cities between La Crosse and St. Louis. He will continue to St. Paul and Minneapolis before returning by easy stages to St. Louis. Mr. and Mrs. Green do not expect to

Music Through a Diamond

Mr. Edison's Secret

The wonderful Diamond Stylus Reproducer is the secret by which Mr. Edison has made of the phonograph a real musical instrument. It brings out all those overtones and fine shades of sound that give volume, purity and richness to the tone. Creates at last what music lovers have been waiting for—a tone that can really be called true-to-life, human and natural.

New Edison Diamond Disc Phonograph

In this perfected musical instrument Mr. Edison has finally solved all the difficulties which have baffled others in the past. He has eliminated the harshness, the mechanical timbre, the metallic sound. So marvelously life-like is its tone that, closing the eyes, one can scarcely distinguish the reproduction from the original. In Mr. Edison's own words, this is "Real Music at Last."

No Needles to Change

The Diamond Stylus Reproducer eliminates the bothersome process of changing needles, which wear out and destroy valuable records. This finely polished Diamond Stylus simply floats over the sound grooves of the New Edison records, reducing wear to a minimum. Call and hear the New Edison. Learn why it is looked upon everywhere as the beginning of a new era in music. Its tone will be a revelation to you. We will be glad to play any one of the great library of Edison Records for you without any obligation.

SMALL BAND OF GERMANS MENACE BRITISH AT SUEZ

Wood Tells of Disaster
Where Turks Fall Into Trap Set for Them

BY HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
CONSTANTINOPLE, (By Courier to Dedeagatch and thence by mail to New York.)—Somewhere down in the interior of Syria are several thousand German officers and men who must remain there either until the war ends or until Kaiser Wilhelm changes his mind. It is their duty to annoy the Suez canal.

With neither sufficient men nor sufficient war material at their disposal to do any damage they must nevertheless make enough showing to force the English at all times to keep large contingents of troops in Egypt for the defense of the canal.
They must hold themselves back in the desert out of harm's way, subsisting as best they can, until a favorable moment presents itself. Then they must swoop down on the canal, and by capturing some lone vessel or in some other way obstruct navigation even if only for a few hours.
Then they must dash back into the safety of the interior of the desert.

These men are the remnants of the tragic Turko-German expedition which was sent last January against the canal.

As a recompense for their faithfulness an officer or a soldier is occasionally given permission to come up to Constantinople for a renewal of contact with civilization. From these officers and men I learned a few still unpublished details of the disaster of last January.

When the expedition finally approached the canal after having pushed its way across the desert for weeks carrying pontoons for crossing the canal and transporting the bulk of its water in tin cans, the plan of attack decided upon was that usually employed by the Austrians.
Simultaneous attacks were to be begun by the right and left wings in order to distract and engage the enemy and then the main body of troops comprising the center was to make the dash for crossing the canal.

To the surprise of all the attacks met with such little resistance that the center in its mad rush to get across did not stop to build a pontoon bridge but leaping into the pontoons themselves rowed to the other side. There the mystery was explained. Along the front of the canal were found whole lines of trenches which the English evidently had abandoned in haste at the approach of the expedition. Into these trenches the Turks piled and began at once establishing their position when suddenly the English artillery stationed miles away but having the precise range of the trenches poured into them a terrible fire.

A mad rush was made for the other side of the canal where the survivors gathered up their wounded and loading them onto camels pushed back into the desert to a point where Dr. Ward, head of the Americical department of the American Protestant College at Beirut had come down with a Red Cross unit.
There the wounded were taken care of until it was possible for them to return north.

W. H. Rudolph, eastern repre-

success with "Guarding Old Glory," the Peace and Preparedness picture by that name, on which a big advertising campaign is being launched.

Both Mr. Nielsen and Mr. Rudolph were dumfounded at the interest immediately taken in the picture by exhibitors and state rights buyers alike. As soon as the first four page advertisement appeared announcing that "Guarding Old Glory" was released on the state rights plan a flood of mail arrived at both the Chicago and New York offices.

"Guarding Old Glory" not only has the endorsements of the various government chiefs, but has the solid backing of the patriotic leagues throughout the country. The following letters from Col. Robt. M.
Thompson, executive chairman of the Navy League shows the strength and value of the picture as a drawing card for exhibitors.

"New York, Aug. 23.
"Mr. F. O. Nielsen,
"Chicago, Ill.

"Dear sir:
"I have seen your moving picture,
"Guarding Old Glory." Every American should see this picture. It is interesting, instructive, and of immense value to the country. The Navy League will co-operate with you in every way to receive wide publication for the picture.

"Yours very truly,
"(Signed) Robt. M. Thompson.
"Executive Chairman."

"Guarding Old Glory" is a timely picture that comes at the psychological moment when Peace and Preparedness is the topic of the day, and in the opinion of those who know will do much to awaken the people to the fact that our country is unprepared for war. This picture will be shown at the Casino Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

FOOD OF PRISON LIFE

ST. CLOUD, Minn., Aug. 31.—His studied efforts to break into the state reformatory here rewarded, Robert Arnette rests peacefully today. A few weeks ago, he forged three checks and gave himself up to the St. Paul police. His sentence finished, he soon returned to the St. Paul police, demanded his cell back, saying he had forged another check. He was accommodated. Then he came back here, voluntarily appeared before the authorities, and insisted he had forged another check, and asked to be sentenced to the state reformatory. He denied he is writing a book on prison reform.

GET ROLLING STOCK

CAPTOWN, South Africa, Aug. 31.—The following new rolling stock was placed in service on the South African railways during the week ended June 12, 1915: One second-class main line saloon, 11 50-ton trucks, 22 sheep trucks, one cattle truck and four tank trucks.

FEW LAWS STRIKE FARMERS AS GLASS

The Most Important Change Made by 1915 Legislature Is Creation of Agricultural Department

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 31.—Legislation affecting farmers took much time at the recent session of the Wisconsin legislature, but less than that directly affect the farmers as a class. Attempts to repeal appropriations for various breeders' and agricultural organizations were made but failed, and these will continue their promotion work. In a governmental way, the largest importance attaches to the new agricultural department with a single commissioner, C. P. Norgard, which combines the work of various boards having to do with agricultural activities. The state highway law was revamped, several new features being introduced, and state aid to highways reduced from $1,200,000 to $800,000 per year.

Livestock breeders are interested in a new law giving owners of a breeding animal a lien upon any dam served or any colt begotten from such service. An appropriation was made for continuing the manufacture of hog cholera serum by the state to be sold at cost to Wisconsin farmers. The law relating to slaughter of animals after reacting to the tuberculin test was changed to provide for proper payment for slain animals. No change is made in value limitations.

A new law was added to the statutes to take care of any further emergency arising for another epidemic of foot and mouth disease.

Farmers' co-operative organizations, such as creameries, cheese factories, etc., are affected by a new law which raises the maximum dividends of such organizations from 8 to 8 per cent. This is expected to stimulate such activities. Farmers who have suffered losses from dogs will have recourse against the owners of such animals and may also kill offending canines. Drainage laws of the state will be investigated by a special legislative committee, to report to the next legislature. Milk dealers under a new law will take out a permit from the local authorities. Poultry organizations receiving state aid must hereafter file their statements before April 1 of each year. Farmers who own their own bridges may hereafter regulate the traffic to suit themselves whether a free or toll bridge. Cheese or buttermakers must take out a state license, and pay a fee therefor. Registration of farm names may be made with the register of deeds.

Important rural school legislation was enacted. One law of major importance provides for special state aid for rural school teachers remaining in continuous service with the same district. Another act affecting the rural schools substitutes a committee on common school for the old county board of education, whose functions have been widely described. The county board of education law was revised in numerous particulars of vital interest to country people.

CANNERS WARNED AGAINST POWDERS

Many Compounds For Sale Are Poisonous Says Department of Agriculture

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—With the season of preserving and canning fruit at hand, many housewives who like to put up their own fruit are urged to use some preserving or canning compound. The argument is that this makes the work much easier and insures the keeping quality of the food. As it happens, the principal ingredient in many of these powders is salicylic acid, which is well known as a poisonous substance and which frequently leads to derangement of the digestion.

In cases of acute articular rheumatism and certain other diseases salicylic acid is useful as a medicine when properly administered but may be a dangerous ingredient in food. Other powders and preserving compounds contain boric acid and are frequently sold under fanciful names at prices much in advance of their real value. The worst feature about these powders is that, while they may prevent the decay of the fruit or vegetable, they also encourage uncleanly or careless work. In addition, if they are eaten with food in excessive quantities they may very well have a bad effect upon the health. The housewife who takes pride in her work will realize that heat, sugar and cleanliness are all that she needs to put up excellent fruits and vegetables that will keep perfectly. Therefore, there is no excuse for running any risk by using preserving powders. The department of Agriculture has issued many bulletins and pamphlets showing how to put up fruits and vegetables and these it will be glad to supply without cost.

STUDY BADGER PLAN

BLOODLESS BATTLE GOES TO ALLIES

LONDON, Aug. 31.—The most bloodless battle of the war preceded the capture by French and British troops of the German fortress of Garua, in Cameroon, western Africa.

For three hours the allies sent shells crashing against the German positions, according to official reports just received here. The Germans replied with an equally violent cannonade.

The German garrison of 17 officers and 270 men finally surrendered. Not a man had been killed or wounded and the most serious damage was done by a French shell which struck a dentist's chair. The allies had not a single casualty to report.

"GREAT ARE NEW NIGHTIES" SAY THE MOSQUITOES

Night Robes Become Cool and Airy Just as Nature Meant Them to Be

BY MARGARET MASON
(Written for the United Press.)
Nettie has a nightie
That is nothing more than net.
It's a nifty, natty nightie
And a wee bit naughty—yet
Quite the nicest thing in nighties
Is sweet Nettie in the net.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Butterflies of fashion ought to feel at home in the net. Perhaps that is why they are adapting it to garments for strictly home wear. Certainly the new net nighties are homey without being homely. Time was when the nightie was a garment to be mentioned with bated breath only in the privacy of the boudoir as 'twere. Now they are openly discussed in the very best families. They have to be openly discussed because they are all open work. You can't make veiled allusions to 'em even though they are made of veils and illusion themselves. The net result is that these new net nighties are being very much talked about. In fact everybody is talking about them.

Just at first you might imagine these net nightgowns would be an awful bother to mosquitoes but the altruistic designers have had insect interests at heart. They have created one model of net de unit that is slit from the ankle length hem to the waist where it is caught together with a soft bow of pink ribbon that is run through a shirring around the waist. A second pink bow ties the slit skirt together at the knee. The waist of the gown is made of two wide panels that taper to mere straps over the shoulders forming a low V shaped neck and no sleeves or under arm covering. This nightgown will undoubtedly prove a boon indeed to the festive mosquito. Possibly the designer who thus looked out for his interests was once a little fly herself. I forgot to mention that this garment is also further heavily burdened with a row of pink feather stitching around the ankle length hem up the sides of the slit skirt and outlining the straplike bodice.

Another net model has a wide ruffle of pleated net around the round baby neck, wide pleated ruffles around the short elbow sleeves and a deep full pleated ruffle around the bottom of the skirt from the knee to the ankle. All the ruffles are headed with inch wide yellow satin ribbon run through a double fold of the net and the yellow satin ribbon run through a shirring forms the high empire waist line. Here's one garment that the fat woman can wear with impunity. She doesn't have to be thin to wear a net nightie because it's thin enough itself. She will also find it deliciously cool—almost cool to the point of audacity.

For more conservative sleepy heads a nightgown of pink silk mull is offered but on exactly the same lines as the nightshirt of the old fashioned male. It has the same high neck with a neat little turnover collar, long straight sleeves and buttons over the chest with the same neat little set-on flap. Briar stitching in white outlines the collar, cuffs, hem and the fastening flap and a bit of white smocking on each side of the front gives the necessary fullness.

So far removed in effect and design is the nightshirt nightie from the nightie of net that it would even give the mattress a turn should they elect to climb into the same bed together.

GAG WORKS TWICE

BOGALUSA, La., Aug. 31.—Once bitten, twice shy, does not apply to J. S. Bates, cattle market man, of this town. He had just been stung for $277.35 on a bad check by a supposed Hattiesburg hide firm. Investigation has revealed the fact, it is alleged, that the perpetrator of the swindle is identical with the perpetrator of a similar trick on the same man, whereby he lost $185.65.

GEORGE M. HEATH TO MOVE SOUTH

That George M. Mr. Heath has been superintendent of a line of flour mills owned by a Canadian company.

N. S. BAND PLAYS EXCURSION AWAY ON LANSING TRIP

Fully 500 Aboard Sidney on Progressive League's Outing for Benefit of Musicians

With a repertoire that included every type of musical selection known today with the exception of the popular "hesitation," upon which fell the official taboo of the North Side Progressive league for fear its playing would inculcate in the minds of the crowd on the levee a spirit of hesitation relative to casting their lot with those already on board, the North Side Military band played for a half hour this morning before the Sidney swung out into the main channel with a rumbling churn of the big stern wheel with fully 500 persons aboard for a trip to Lansing under the joint auspices of the North Side Progressive league and the popular amateur musical organization.

Old Sol radiating warmth from his position in the blue-vaunted heavens above, fairly outdid himself in an effort to atone for the past and to make the outing a success.

The excursion was probably the last daylight river excursion to be given from La Crosse this season, and was arranged for the benefit of the North Side Military band, the proceeds to be used in the purchase of new instruments. A second excursion will be given tonight on the same boat. The band will be heard in action on both the out and the return trips, both in the daylight and the moonlight excursions.

The band played on the principal streets of the north side last night to arouse interest in the outing, rendering a program similar to that given on the downtown streets Saturday night.

LONDON QUERULOUS OVER ABSENCE OF TROOPS IN CITY

Big Campaign in West is Thought Reason for Disappearance of the Soldiers

BY WILBUR S. FORREST
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
LONDON, Aug. 31.—The war office just now is as silent as the desert sphynx, but London hears that something is about to happen on the western front. The question most asked here is this:

"When is the big blow coming?" The average Londoner is waiting in highly interested expectancy. He believes he will not have to wait long. All the reasons behind his deductions cannot be stated here. But it is sufficient to note that soldiers are becoming more scarce in London. The killed Scots, bearded British Islanders and Canadians, bearded Australians and New Zealanders and turbaned Indians are fast disappearing from the gaze of civilian London—hundreds of thousands of them. Daily for the past month they have been moving off somewhere. And it is known here that the British front in France has been lengthened, exactly how much the public does not know.

"What will the situation in England be?" asks the Times. "If Russia is seriously defeated and the enemy's legions stream back to the west which is the center of gravity of the enemy power?"

The Times added that England should be ready to meet the expected blow in France.

FORD IS ANGRY AT BEING PLACED IN THE SHERIDAN CAMP

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 31.—"It's a deliberate malicious lie," was Henry Ford's retort to the report that he would be a member of the business training camp at Fort Sheridan. "Going to that place is the last thing in my mind. If such a statement was given out by anyone connected with the camp or with the military crowd I can easily guess what the object was."

Officer Erred
CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—Col. Frederick U. S. A., who will be in charge of the civilians' camp at Fort Sheridan, when told of the denial by Henry Ford, millionaire automobile maker of Detroit, that the latter considered joining the camp, today made this statement:

"When I first read the letter referred to, I merely saw it was signed 'Henry W. Ford.' It was postmarked Detroit, and I took for granted it was the automobile manufacturer. It was so announced to the newspapermen. Since then I have again gone over the correspondence and found the letter in question was written on the stationery of 'Saxon Motor Works' of Detroit. That's all there is to it. There was simply a mistake made somewhere."

What has become of the old-fashioned man who always insisted he was as "fit as a fiddle."

THURSDAY, SEPT. 2

WHITTET'S JOB ABOLISHED BEFORE HE UNDERTOOK IT

By Mix-up in Laws His Post of Accountant Was Repealed He Will Work
Under New Plan

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 31.—Due to an oversight in the appropriation bill for the executive office Speaker Lawrence C. Whittet will not be able to hold the position of accountant to which he was recently appointed by Governor Philipp at a salary of $4,500 a year.

The appropriation of $5,000 annually provided in the Heim bill calling for the retirement of the trust fund indebtedness at the rate of $100,000 annually, was made to provide the governor with "expert accountants" to "ascertain the financial condition of the state at the end of each calendar year." It was made a subsection to the section in the statutes, which deals with the appropriation for the governor's office. This became a law on July 29th.

Office Repealed

The appropriation for the executive department amended the same section of the statutes, but was drawn up on May 21, and did not finally pass both houses until the closing days of the session. No reference is found in this bill to the subsection creating the new position, and the only interpretation to be placed upon it is that the former act was thereby repealed. This is the interpretation placed upon it by both the secretary of state's office, where the bills are audited and by the attorney general.

Mr. Whittet had already served a week under the appointment, his vouchers, calling for $84.67 being presented for the last week in August. The voucher will be audited, but credited to the regular appropriation of the executive office, by the secretary of state.

Employ Whittet

This oversight will not mean that the governor will be deprived of the services of Mr. Whittet, as he can still be retained and paid out of the appropriation of the department, which is ample to take care of the matter, as the expense of prosecuting the swamp land claims, hitherto borne out of the executive appropriations, is taken care of in another appropriation of $10,000 for a special committee. This cost the state $7,900 during the last biennium, and with this expense transferred from the executive department, a surplus will be available, as $45,041.78 was made available for that office during the coming two years as compared to $46,578.22 spent during the last two years.

Should there not be sufficient in the appropriation to the executive office to take care of Mr. Whittet, advantage may be taken, to avoid the difficulty, of the emergency appropriation passed in the last hours of the legislative session, by which the governor with two other constitutional officers may use whatever money they feel is necessary to take care of any deficiency in any department of the state government.

The $10,000 appropriation for the use of the committee on swamp land claims was only saved by 20 minutes, as it was signed according to the record just that much before the regular appropriation bill which also neglected to refer to this section.

WOMAN HAS LOOKOUT

"Whys" of Moves in European War

BY J. W. T. MASON
(Written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Germany is beginning to suspect the results of her submarine activity against British shipping do not justify the large claims made for the new style of warfare when it began last February.

One of the most curious psychological effects of the war has been the belief in Germany that the submarine campaign was serving very largely the purposes of a blockade. The submarines have been referred to by the Germans as operating against England in the same way that the British fleet in the North sea operated against Germany. This interpretation of actual conditions, of course, is wide of the mark. British trade is hampered very little because of the submarines and there has been only a slight advance in marine insurance rates to cover submarine risks.

The Berlin Tageblatt, Germany's leading liberal organ, is the first German newspaper to look these facts in the face. It estimates that one and one-half merchant vessels have been sunk a day since the submarine blockade began, and it points out this is a very modest result. The Tageblatt blames the newspapers generally for arousing an extravagant belief in the effectiveness of submarines as a blocking force.

In other words the constant cry of patience to those who keep demanding greater deeds from the submarines cannot be longer maintained, suggests the Tageblatt. The von Tirpitz blockade, therefore, is revealing itself as a fiasco to the German people. It is but a pin prick compared to what might be accomplished by a fleet capable of maintaining a real blockade around the British Isles.

A full realization of the actual conditions must have a depressing effect on the Germans. The desire to harm England at any cost, as Germany's chief enemy, has so magnified the victories of the submarines that it will be a difficult matter to readjust the common vision to a clear view of the facts.

The Tageblatt's initial move in this direction, if persisted in, however, will be beneficial to ultimate peace. It will produce an understanding in Germany that England's economic position cannot be seriously affected by the undersea boats, no matter how long the war lasts. To continue the conflict, therefore, for the purpose of damaging England's commerce, must now be ruled out of serious war debates in Germany.

PREPARE FOR ROUGH WEATHER

PENSACOLA, Fla., Aug. 31.—Members of the coast guard along the gulf have been ordered to report at their stations today for storm season service. The complete guard will go on duty tomorrow and remain through the rough weather until early spring.

While talk is reasonably cheap, love letters are apt to be expensive if ever they find their way into court.

The SIMPLEX Automobile Trailer

Makes Your Automobile Earn a Profit

The Simplex Automobile Trailer, readily attached to any motor or pleasure car, is the only automobile trailer built that trails in the tracks of the automobile. It clears all obstructions cleared by the automobile. No two wheel cart or four wheel trailer built on the ordinary gear will follow in automobile tracks when running out of a straight line.

The farmer and fruit grower brings his crops to town in the Simplex Trailer—it saves time, worry, inconvenience.

Dairymen use the Simplex Trailer to haul milk to the creamery, station, platform or town. Its use saves hours of time.

The Simplex Short-Turn Gear turns in a twelve foot circle. Its use avoids accidents and loss.

The Simplex solves the delivery problems of all merchants who use it. It gives quicker deliveries and allows more of them—it cuts down delivery costs.

A Simplex Automobile Trailer is a well-paying investment and not an expense for Farmers, Merchants and others. Light in weight, easy to pull, the Simplex pays for itself several times every year.

GOVERNMENT HAS TROUBLE HOUSING ITS PRISONERS

Gregory Says a Special Prison Should Be Built for the Women Only

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Housing the federal prisoners has become so serious a problem that it is possible congress will soon be asked for an appropriation for another penitentiary. For want of room in federal places the government has been distributing male and female prisoners among state prisons, and there are good reasons, it is thought, why these, especially the women, should be directly under Uncle Sam's control.

Inadequacy of present prison facilities is causing Attorney General Gregory no little concern. After a recent inspection of the penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, he announced that he intended to ask congress to make further provision for prisoners.

There are but three federal penitentiaries—Atlanta, Ga., Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and McNeil Island, Wash. A new one probably would be located somewhere in the east. That would strike a good medium, it is thought, between Atlanta and Fort Leavenworth.

"One of the reasons why the federal government should cease sending its prisoners to state institutions," said the attorney general, "is that the parole law cannot be promptly administered unless prisoners are kept directly under the eyes of government agents. Then, besides, this thing of scattering women prisoners all around is bad generally."

The need of a special prison for women was emphasized by the attorney general. The possibility of such an institution being authorized is considered remote, yet the head of the department of justice will sound sentiment in congress on the point.

Uncle Sam has only about 40 out of about 500 women in his own prisons. There are approximately 600 males that the attorney general thinks should be taken out of state penitentiaries.

Labor at federal prisons is a distinct problem with the department of justice. If the attorney general can have his way all federal prisoners will soon be turning out general supplies for the government, including equipment for the army and navy such as uniforms, shoes and caps. Congress will be asked to authorize this. The scheme has worked well in Japan. This is pointed out as another reason back of the plan.

ALASKAN RAILROAD AND AGRICULTURE

Soil Survey Shows Agricultural Conditions in Three Regions of Territory

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 31.—Among the natural resources of Alaska which it is expected will be made more readily available to the world's markets by the construction of the recently projected government railroad, one which may be less well known but which is by no means the least valuable is her agricultural soils. Experts from the bureau of soils, United States Department of Agriculture, recently have made an examination of the soils over a large part of the Alaskan peninsula, the results of which are soon to be published by the department in a report entitled "Soil Reconnaissance in Alaska, With an Estimate of the Agricultural Possibilities."

The report described the soils and conditions influencing agriculture in three broad areas, the Cook-Inlet-Susitna region, the Yukon-Tanana region and the Copper River regions. As a promising agricultural section the Cook-Inlet-Susitna region is the most important, although the Yukon-Tanana region comprises some of the best agricultural soils in Alaska. In the former region a soil type mapped as the Knik loam, under the scientific classification adopted by the bureau of soils, covers a total area of nearly 2,000 square miles. It is an excellent soil for the production of potatoes, a large number of vegetables, grain, native grass, legumes, and flowers. The soil is easily tilled and is now used for a wide variety of crops. Potatoes yield over 200 bushels per acre. Early varieties of oats and barley produce large yields of grain. Wheat and rye mature, and all the small grains give good yields of hay.

Other soils of the three general regions are described in detail, together with the climate, topography, drainage, settlement, industries, transportation and other factors affecting agriculture. In general, conditions are favorable over a vast territory for the development of the stock raising and dairying industries, and the most promising line of agriculture seems to be that which will center about dairying. It is pointed out in the report that the development of a successful and profitable agriculture in this region is entirely possible, but will depend upon the establishment of transportation facilities and the development of local markets.

COMMON WASHRAG DANGEROUS—U. S.

More Deadly Than the Common Towel Says Uncle Sam's Health Department

The United States public health service and the various state and local boards of health have taken adequate measures for the abolition of that distributor of disease germs, the common towel. Now comes the news that the common washrag is even a greater menace to health. The hotels and public hostels have recognized this for some time, and have supplied their guests with sterilized wash cloths in individual sealed packets. The damp "sour" smelling washrag still exists, however, in many private bath rooms. Imperfectly washed out after use, frequently not wrung out at all, it is often hung over a rack or a radiator near an open window, there to collect dust and dirt. Frequently the same washrag is used by the entire family, thus affording an easy means of transference of mouth secretions from person to person. In many households each individual has his own wash cloth and his individual towel, but these hang so close to one another that there is ready interchange of bacteria. Each individual should have his own wash cloth. It should be thoroughly washed out with clean hot water after use. It should be then wrung as nearly dry as possible, and if possible hung in the sun to dry. It should not come in contact with other wash cloths. In the investigations the United States public health service is conducting in regard to the prevalence of trachoma it has been found that common towels probably acted as a medium of distribution of the germ of disease.

A man who lies is despised, but no one seems to live in horror because most towns lie about their population.

BOARD OF CONTROL DISCUSSES SAVING

How to Keep Institutions Within Narrow Limits Set by Legislature Problem Today

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 31.—(Special.)—The finances of the state charitable and penal institutions will be gone over by the state board of control at a meeting today. Copies of the financial bills passed at the last session of the legislature have been submitted to all of the institutions and at the meeting to be held Tuesday reports as to the institutions will be considered and means will be discussed as to how these institutions can be kept within the appropriations made by the legislature.

At that time all building improvement matters will be up for consideration, including the building work on the hospital for feeble-minded at Union Grove and the Woman's reformatory at Taycheedah. For the former there is nearly $250,000 available and for the latter about $175,000.

NORMAL REGENTS MEET AT MADISON

Election of Officers and Disposition of Appropriations is Discussed

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 31.—(Special.)—The regular annual meeting of the state board of normal school regents will be held in the capitol building today. Election of officers and the selection of one of its members to represent it on the state board of education are among the actions listed. Appropriations for the various schools will be taken up. At this time the board will discuss what steps to take in the rebuilding of the Oshkosh normal school and in building improvements of the Superior institution.

The re-election of Theodore Kronshag, of Milwaukee as president of the board, and his selection as representative on the state board are among the probabilities.

OIL NEAR MILWAUKEE

WEST ALLIS, Wis., Aug. 31.—West Allis has a real oil gusher and land owners in this suburb are planning to buy "filivers." ## FORCED ECONOMY BRITISH PROGRAM FOR SECOND YEAR

Nation Needs Five Billions Yearly and Gets In Revenue But Third

BY WILBUR S. FORREST
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, Aug. 19.—(By Mail.)—England has entered the second year of war on a strict basis of economy. Saving is not only a national duty but a bald imperative necessity. The government must have $5,000,000,000 a year to carry on the war. The government's annual revenue is only $1,350,000,000. The balance—$3,650,000,000—must be furnished by the nation—the people.

The answer is: Strict economy—starting right away.

This is the keynote of a stern message to the people from the Parliamentary war savings committee, headed by Premier Asquith, Bonar Law and other notables. Assisted by experts on national economy, the committee is telling the people what to save and how to save it.

A booklet for nationwide distribution, soon to be published by the committee will place the issue before every British citizen, rich and poor, high and low. The language is simple and to the point.

Here is the little problem in arithmetic that the government economists write on the national blackboard for Mr. John Bull:

"Eliminate the millions and just suppose that the British government were an every day garden variety of man—John Bull. John has been enjoying a comfortable income of $11,500 a year. After spending money for household necessities, week-end trips to the seashore and furnishing gasoline for his automobile he has been able to save $1,500 a year. Then suppose, suddenly, he finds himself embroiled in a lawsuit with his aggressive neighbor, Herr Johann Schmidt of Berlin. To carry on the lawsuit he must spend $5,000 a year. How can he find the money?"

He has four alternatives, the government experts say:

- (1) Sell his investments.
- (2) Borrow from other people.
- (3) Draw on money he has in the bank.
- (4) Save out of the money he usually spends.

But if he employs any of the first three suggestions he will come out of the lawsuit poorer than he went in. There is but one logical suggestion and that is to save—eliminate the luxuries. It means that he'll have to economize, to eat, drink, smoke and dress less expensively; keep fewer servants, travel less, go to the theater less; utilize his garden to grow the flowers that he formerly bought of the florist, and the potatoes and vegetables that he previously took from the grocer; garage his automobile and do without innumerable unnecessary things that eat into the family exchequer. If John Bull does all this he can keep on with his lawsuit against Johann Schmidt indefinitely and when it is all over he will be no poorer. He can then revert to the original and more comfortable mode of living.

This, say the parliamentary economists, is the government's plan in a nutshell. It means to save and scrape to keep up its battlefield lawsuit to the indefinite end—and to emerge with unimpaired credit.

Shouldn't Sell Stocks
It is pointed out to John Bull collectively and individually that to sell stocks and bonds abroad means a poorer England; to borrow from other nations means a greater and heavier national debt; to draw on the prevailing national fund means sending gold abroad and endangering British worldwide banking. The problem that Johann Schmidt's lawsuit puts up to John Bull is the same problem that the government puts up to the people. It means use less and save more, all of which makes it possible for the government to import less and export more.

During the first six months of 1915, England imported $2,145,000,000 worth of goods from other countries and sold them only $1,175,000,000 worth. Duly subtracted and divided these figures show that England bought from other countries at the rate of $5,000,000 daily more than she sold them.

In normal times, normal British business supplies the deficit, but now that there is war, the elements of trade and commerce that supply the difference are being used for war. Thus, say the government economists, is shown the imperative necessity for thrift. And the only solution of the problem is a revolution of national habits.

The government thrift campaign is to enter every British kitchen and garden.

"Each community will elect its committee and outline its individual thrift campaign," said H. E. Morgan, chairman of the parliamentary committee today. "Everyone wants to help his country at a time like this. Flower gardens and lawns must go. Vegetables must take their place. Every lawn must become a potato patch."

The government thrift campaign is to enter every British kitchen and garden.

WINONA ASSEMBLY SOLD AT AUCTION

WARSAW, Ind., Aug. 31.—Winona Assembly, the big Presbyterian institution, was sold today for $100,000, which was $2 more than the appraised valuation. E. O. Excell, president of the old board of directors, bought in the property. He represented the old board, which, with some additions will remain in control. He will organize with W. J. Bryan as president, Bryan, Billy Sunday and other lesser lights watched the auction sale.

Even a deep thinker may not make a successful well digger.

General Leonard Wood, in command of the department of the east, U. S. A., says "the influence of the Military Training Camp for Business and Professional Men, at Plattsburg, N. Y., can scarcely be overestimated; it will be felt all over the country."

GRAIN MUST NOT BE STORED DAMP

This is Warning to Farmers
Issued by Agronomy Expert of the University

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 31.—(Special.)—R. H. Moore, agronomist of the agricultural experimental station, has issued a warning to farmers to beware of storing seed grains while damp.

"Too much caution can not be exercised in the storing of grains," said Professor Moore. "In wet seasons like the present much of the grain when threshed will be damp even though care has been taken to prevent it. Immediately after threshing the grain should be stored in shallow bins or placed on a plain floor where it can be shoveled over frequently. Grain that is damp should never be stored in deep bins as it will soon start to heat—and will not only then be attacked by moulds and other diseases but it is liable to start to sprout, which reduces its vitality and germinating power. Grain that is mouldy and musty should never be used for seed and it is almost a crime to force our farm animals to eat it. A little forethought on the part of the farmer in taking care of his seed and feeding grain before and after threshing will remedy this evil."

A little push is worth more in the end than a political pull.

STATE FAIR WILL HAVE CONTEST FOR "BETTER BABIES"

Competitions Will be Held for Humans as Well as Pigs And Cattle

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 31.—"Better babies" is the thought back of the health baby contest to be staged at the Wisconsin state fair, September 13-17. Heretofore in Wisconsin, cows, pigs, sheep and horses have received expert attention, but it remained with the present state fair board to start a big movement for "better babies."

In the contest no attention will be paid to beauty. The babies will be marked strictly on the basis of health points, and they will be returned to their parents with a "score card" showing exactly how they rank. Physicians, dentists and nurses will conduct the examinations.

Club women of the state are asked to co-operate with the fair in making this event a success.

In addition to the "health" contest there will be a welfare exhibition of interest to mothers.

"Give us good weather and the 1915 Wisconsin fair will be a great success," said C. P. Norgard, commissioner of agriculture. "From the agricultural standpoint, it is going to be the finest showing of Wisconsin's resources that the Badger state ever has offered. Truly Wisconsin will be on parade at the fair. Much attention has been given to 'popular' attractions. The battle in the sky with two daring aviators 2,000 feet above the crowd depicting European warfare, is the biggest thriller available. It is a wonderfully impressive entertainment. Our speed program making changes in the fair will please the people of the state. Good weather this year, and the state fair of Wisconsin will become a great institution in the life of the state."

The big good road exhibit to be shown at the Wisconsin state fair by the federal government has been shipped from Washington, D. C. The exhibit is complete, and is of special interest in this state because the general subject of highway construction is a matter of state wide interest.

Uniformed soldiers will police the state fair grounds this year. Work has begun to enclose machinery hall which will be used to stage the first big automobile show of 1915. Milwaukeeans who are arranging the automobile display say that it will be brilliant.

The old red painted fence around the state fair park is being torn down. A wire fence will take its place.

All buildings and fences in the park have been painted white.

WORLD NEAR END SAYS OLD DARKEY

DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 31.—"Brudder Scott" of the colored apostolic faith or "Holy Rollers" solemnly avers the world's about to end.

"Beloveds," he told his congregation, "de Kingdom am near at hand. 'Ah has seen a vision and Ah knows. Las' month I seen dem carter crows goin' in great numbers to de destruction of kingdoms just as de Good Book prophesied. An' whah was dem carter crows gwine? Dey w' gwine to Mexico, dat's whah dey w' gwine to Mexico, dat's whah dey w' gwine to Mexico? To eat de kings, dat's whah for."

"An' dat ain't all beloveds. Dem Germans is killing every body over yondah and pretty soon dey's gwine hop over heah and you'll be dead dat's whah you will. You all see de Kingdom's comin'."

In America when two men are very polite to each other it is a sign that there is a coolness between them.
